

JARAH

Jarah Jane was born in the United States in Fort Kent, Maine.

At the age of four, Jarah moves to Canada with her family. She lives in Ontario for three years before setting in Quebec.

At the age of 17, she learns to play guitar and writes her first song.

1993 - 1994, Jarah fulfills one of her dreams: modeling. She does many fashion shows. Her modeling experience helps her overcome her shyness but realizing that her path is music, she goes back to her pencil and guitar. At this point, she knows where she belongs. She works furiously at her writing and compositions.
